

How big should a rain garden be to remove pollutants from an acre of parking lot?

The size of a rain garden depends on many factors, including the size of the area from which water must be captured and cleaned, how much runoff can be retained during a single storm, how many pollutants accumulate on the lot, and the kinds of grasses/plants that will thrive in the region and also filter pollutants.

Our Grass Roots Web site is loaded with more great information for you!